

FAQs

Do I have to make a booking?

No but if you don't, you may have to queue. There's no waiting at the bar anymore.

How many people can I book for?

The maximum booking is 6 people

Can I order at the bar?

Not any more. All drink / food is now table service. We will under no circumstances serve you at the bar.

Why can't I stand at the bar?

Standing at the bar (or anywhere else) is restricted by the government guidelines.

Do you provide hand sanitiser?

Yes, we have sanitiser at both doors and near the toilets.

Why don't staff wear PPE?

Staff PPE is not required in government guidelines, in fact it is stated that PPE offers negligible control. If staff want to wear PPE, they are welcome to. Look at your supermarket, almost no staff wear PPE

Why is the menu smaller?

As well as considering social distancing for customers, we have to consider it for our guys too. Reducing the menu helps this. In addition, as we are going to be quieter, we need to remove some of the slower selling items to reduce cost.

Can I book a funeral reception? I've heard we can have 30.

Afraid not. The regulations allow for weddings and other similar events (funerals are a fair interpretation of this) for up to 30. This is for the ceremony only though. There is no provision for a reception.
